After the opening of the blog, I would like to introduce myself and my writing practice, which is the main reason why I created this blog.. The reason that I started a blog with a different name instead of my real name is that my real name has something that I don't want to write on a. Instagram. I'm wondering about the best method to determine if a number is there in a table, and if so, return the index. The table is ordered by the first column, in ascending order, so if I had an ordered table like: A B C 2 5 3 4 4 2 1 3 5 And I wanted to find the location in the table where $n = 4$ was, for example, it would return 3 because the $4$ is in row 3, column A. The following function worked for me: private int GetLocation(int target) { if (target 3da54e8ca3
