I have a dictionary of over 500 objects, each object is defined by a small list of variables. The keys in the dictionary are all unique values. The values in the dictionary are all objects with the same type. I would like to create a list of the values in the dictionary. For example: dictionary =

{'A':object1, 'B':object1, 'C':object1, 'D':object2, 'E':object3} list = [object1,object2,object3,object4,object5] I know that this is a simple problem, but I have no idea how to approach it. Any ideas? A: You can use a list comprehension, to "iterate" over the dictionary. dictionary = {'A':object1, 'B':object1, 'C':object1, 'D':object2, 'E':object3} list = [dictionary[key] for key in dictionary] If you have a lot of key-values, you should check if you want a list or a dict. A: list = [dictionary.get(k) for k in dictionary] to get a list back. Q: Custom tableview cell : Custom tableview cell separator line I am using a custom tableview cell in my project. I have added subviews for the tableview cell and it is working fine. Now I need a custom separator line between the cells. So far I have used UIView layer for a line. UIView *separatorView = [[UIView alloc] initWithFrame:CGRectMake(0, self.tableView.contentInset.top, self.tableView.frame.size.width, 20)]; separatorView.backgroundColor = [UIColor redColor]; [self.tableView addSubview:separatorView]; [UIView animateWithDuration:0.5 animations:^{ [separatorView setFrame:CGRectMake(self.tabl

What's New in the?

Mac OS X Lion (10.7) includes a feature that attempts to scan the user's hard drive for duplicate files, which can consume large amounts of space. After a scan, the duplicate files can be moved to the trash. The new features in this release of Lion allow you to select exactly which files you want moved to the trash. You can now select specific files and/or folders to be moved to the trash, and also select which of those files or folders are moved when the trash is emptied. - How To Use: Select Files To Be Moved To Trash With This Application Open any Finder window to show the sidebar. From the sidebar, choose the Desktop and press the F3 key. A new folder will appear on the desktop. Move the files or folders from the Applications, Documents, or Music folders to this folder. Right click any of the files or folders you wish to move to trash. Choose the option from the shortcut menu to move the files or folders to the trash. Option To Move Files And Folders To Trash When Empty Open any Finder window to show the sidebar. From the sidebar, choose the Applications, Documents, or Music folders. Open the Preferences dialog by pressing the Apple (⌘) key. In the Utility pane, expand the Searching Options section, and then select the Empty Trash command. To empty the trash, press the Apple (⌘) key. Option To Move Specific Files To The Trash When Trashed Open any Finder window to show the sidebar. From the sidebar, choose the Desktop and press the F3 key. A new folder will appear on the desktop. Move the files or folders from the Applications, Documents, or Music folders to this folder. Right click any of the files or folders you wish to move to the trash.
